A warm welcome and thanks to our MAMA Conference 2018 | PARTNERS

- The Great Birth Bake Off, Posters, MaMa Glam and MaMa Dancing are open to any delegate. Participation is voluntary. They are not a part of the main Conference programme and as such it is up to individuals if they wish to attend them during breaks or not. MaMa Conference organisers (Birthsparks Ltd) accept no liability for any injury or harm caused during participation in any of these events.
- Please remember that this conference is being attended by the majority of delegates as part of their professional work and on-going learning. If you are bringing your breastfed baby (See Terms & Conditions on our website) please be considerate of other delegates and leave the session if your baby becomes noisy or needs attention during the conference.
- The organisers reserve the right to make any changes deemed necessary at any time to the programme should the need arise.
- The evening MaMa Awards is NOT included in the cost of your conference delegate ticket or exhibition space. Tickets for this event must be purchased separately. Please do not turn up to the Awards/Ceilidh without having purchased a ticket in advance.
- Photography and filming will be ongoing throughout the conference. The organisers retain all copyright of any images obtained during the conference.
- Some speakers may be willing to provide their presentations after the conference to delegates. We will post links to those speakers that are willing to share their presentations after the conference. All copyright to presentations remain with the presenters and should not be shared without reference and prior permission.
- No live streaming of presentations during the conference by delegates is allowed.
- We take your privacy seriously. With this in mind we will not publish a delegate list or pass on any delegate, award winners, speakers or exhibitors contact details to a third party.

Hope you enjoyed your experience with us at #MAMAConference2017
